NAZIS HURL ULTIMATUM AT SPAIN

Rebels Take Fort Guadalupe; Reds Blockade Coast

FOUR PLACES RAIDED; 11 MEN JAILED

Bail for Suspects Is Fixed
At $1500 Each; Two
From Santa Ana

Sheriff's officers this afternoon swooped down on four alleged bookmaking establishments and arrested 11 men in a series of raids staged simultaneously throughout the county.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison set bail at $1500 each as the men were booked at the county jail. At an early hour all were held under felony charges of bookmaking.

Two were arrested in Santa Ana, five in Anaheim and four in Balboa. Officers raided rooms 6 and 7, at 316½ North Birch street, Santa Ana; Roberts Apartments, Center and Lemon streets, Anaheim; an establishment at 609 South Lemon street, Anaheim, and the Restful Club, Balboa.

Complaints were signed, and a group of "John Doe" warrants issued this morning at the request of Robert Sandoz, district attorney's investigator, who said more warrants might follow.

SHIPS RUSH HELP

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Racing at a speed of 30 knots in answer to distress calls from the "S.S. San Joaquin," believed to be a fishing boat, the new destroyers Aylin, Monaghan and Worden today joined three coast guard patrol boats and a tramp steamer in rushing aid to the disabled craft.

Wanted Albacore, But Brings Back 190-Lb. Swordfish

W. B. Watson of Balboa went fishing for albacore yesterday and came back with the prize fish story of the season.

Armed with one small pole, 200 yards of 12-strand line on a 300-yard reel and a 50-cent "feather" as a lure, Watson accompanied by a 13-year-old boy, set out from Newport harbor yesterday in a 20-foot boat.

Just a few minutes after he let out his line Watson got a strike. For two hours he battled his catch, and when he finally subdued it he found he had hooked a 190-pound marlin swordfish. The fish was too large to pull into the boat, so Watson towed it into the harbor and exhibited his "fish that didn't get away."

'Alfred the Needle' Wins $1 Knock Prize

Journal dollar today?

With one "knock knock" editor already confined in an institution to assure his family's safety, and another entering the fingernail-baiting stage of a nervous breakdown, The Journal's knock-knock contest got off to a punny start yesterday.

Norman Haskell, 314 East Santa Clara avenue, was considered the worst offender in the first day's competition and will be awarded $1 for his efforts. The prize winning attempt went like this: "Knock knock. Who's there? Alfred. Alfred who? Alfred the needle if you'll sew on the button."

Mrs. Bertha Solomon, 1014 Riverine street, Santa Ana, was found guilty of the second worst—

Knock, Knock! Who's There? Dan! Dan Who? Dan if He's Not Listed as Republican!

"Ham" Cotton, Democrat,
San Clemente, Orange County, Calif.
Dear "Ham":

I think maybe I have a great surprise for you, "Ham"—A great shock, even to the head of a mighty political Democratic pushmobile. Dan Mulherron is a Republican.

Remember Dan? He's the fellow who lives down at your place. He's head of the WPA in Orange county, and he's been taking them on the beagle right and left from Stanley Clem's gang of Young Democrats, who accuse him of everything from "political skull-duggery" to wearing striped neckties. He's the fellow people consider a Democratic wheelhorse here.

Yessir, it's a fact. He registered Republican Jan. 19, this year. He also registered Republican in 1932. In fact, when was he a Democrat, anyway?

If you want to make sure of it, just drop up to the county clerk's office. Registration rolls are open to the public, and you'll find "Dan Mulherron, contractor, 264 Marquita, San Clemente, Republican."

He was registered in January by a deputy named—ahh, well, Lucy Cotton. Remember Lucy? She's your daughter.

Dan took several pot-shots at Clem because little Stanley only became a Democrat this year. Well, Stanley's got better than a half-year start on Dan right now.

What was that about a what in what's clothing?

Yours for saddling wheelhorses,
PEER-A-BOO.

U. S. Aids Pepper Pest War Here

Orange county pepper growers, who face loss of their crops from the damage of pepper weevils, and yet cannot use arsenic dusts because of their contracts with buyers, today learned the federal government is coming to their aid.

The United States department of agriculture, it was announced, has appropriated $5000 to the entomology station at Alhambra for a study of pepper weevils and a research to find dusts which will kill the pests and at the same time leave no poisonous residue.

J. C. Elmore, government entomologist who has done much work here in truck gardening research, is to start immediately on the work. As Orange county is the principal producer of peppers in the United States, most of the work will be done here, it was learned. Last year the county's 2880 acres of peppers produced a crop valued at $539,120.

Some pepper growers are dusting, according to Ross Crane, assistant farm advisor, but most of them are tied up with contracts which prohibit use of poisonous dusts. One damage case is pending in superior court over alleged delivery of peppers on which arsenic dust remained in sufficient quantities to bar the finished pepper products from the market.

Because of such troubles last year, most buyers and processors have insisted that no poisons be used.

"It is a terrible blow to the youth of California," declared Fournier. "Now, any parent can have any child unsexed for any reason."

Defense Attorneys I. M. Golden and Harry McKenzie, jubilant at their victory, said further prosecution of the doctors was precluded unless a higher court ruled in favor of Fournier's threatened appeal.

Terminating the ruling "bad precedent," Assistant District Attorney August Fournier said he would appeal the decision on the grounds of error.

WEST FIGHTS FOR BIG CUT IN BUDGET

Wants $40,000 Slashed
Off Welfare Costs for Coming Year

Adoption of Orange county's operative budget of $2,312,460 was delayed this morning when Supervisor N. E. West insisted that the welfare budget be cut to $40,000. Present estimates place the tax rate at 62 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

No protests, written or oral, were filed when the board opened a public hearing this morning. Roland D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau, which has approved the budget, attended but solely for information, he said.

Curry Estimates Load

West said he had a theory that the new plan of old age security, in which the county pays one-fourth the cost, would require less local outlay than the former plan of the county and state each paying half. The new aged security law lowers age limits and increases payments.

To this, Byron V. Curry, county welfare director, said he has estimated.

MINE RESCUE IS BALKED

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—Their patience frayed by two days of fruitless rescue efforts, a grim company of coal miners today threatened to defy officials and force their way down a water-logged, gas-filled air shaft in an attempt to reach four fellow workers, entombed in a collapsed mine tunnel.

Arnold Griffith, chief state mine inspector directing rescue operations at the main shaft, posted a special guard and the abandoned air duct to keep friends of the entombed men from entering.

Attempts to reach the imprisoned miners through the air shaft were abandoned yesterday by Arnold, who said the narrow vent was filled with deadly black damp. Four-man rescue crews, working in relays, concentrated their work on the debris-locked main shaft.

The four miners were entombed Tuesday afternoon when fire swept the mine super-structure, causing the vertical main shaft to crumble.

BANK PAYS SAN CLEMENTE TAX

Bank of America now doesn't owe the city of San Clemente one cent, and the city is in a financial condition to go ahead with extensive community development plans following final payment on property taxes by the bank yesterday.

G. J. Hamilton, branch bank manager at San Clemente, yesterday handed the city a check for $26,000, the final payment for this year on considerable property owned by the bank in the San Clemente area.

Last December the bank paid nearly $100,000 into the city treasury in a last-minute attempt to save the community from going bankrupt. With those funds, bank bills and warrants were paid up and civic improvements started. The funds received yesterday will be used to complete projects started with the original bank payment, it was announced.

War Threat Daily More Ominous

(Editor's note: Today, the eyes of the world are centered on revolution-torn Spain. The dramatic developments of the last two days have increased the danger of the conflict spreading beyond the country. Will there be another international war? The chief of the foreign service of the Associated Press gives, in the following article, a picture of the situation as it stands today.)

NEW YORK—Italy's threat to the Spanish Fascist rebels fully reveals the danger of another World war.

The threat to send the Italian air armada to fight against the Spanish government unless France ceases "openly" aiding the Spanish Socialist government came in an unofficial way but fits in perfectly with the whole picture.

Spain is the battlefield of Fascism and Liberalism, the latter represented by Socialists and Communists.

Democratic heavy artillery was drawn up today in Santa Ana, ready to boom from brand-new gun emplacements at 508 North Broadway, campaign headquarters for the Roosevelt partisans.

Joe Peterson, executive party secretary for the county, said six other headquarters would be opened in the county shortly after next week's primary election. Offices will be opened in Newport, Huntington Beach, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, and La Habra, Peterson said.

Volunteer workers will man the guns at all offices, Peterson added.

Labor Head Under Fire in Seattle

SEATTLE. (AP)—The Seattle central labor council sprang to the defense today of Dave Beck, president of the teamsters' council, who has been under fire during the newsroom strike of the Hearst-owned Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

While the Seattle Times and Hearst executives here and in New York charged that Beck dominated the strike called by the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild, the labor council denied he was instrumental in having the newspaper declared "unfair."

Mussolini Ready As German Ships Rushed to Scene

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

By WADE WERNER

BERLIN.—German warships in Spanish waters were ordered tonight to meet all "unjustifiable acts" with force.

The stringent orders followed a curt Nazi ultimatum in which Madrid was warned the German warships would take "all means" to prevent repetition of such incidents as the reported search of the German steamer Kamerun on the high seas.

Germany, whose National-Socialist regime is sympathetic to the cause of the Spanish Fascist rebels, stomped an iron-clad boot into the picture with seven Nazi warships speeding toward Spain under forced draft.

Force Threatened

Admiral Carl, commander of the Nazi warships, wireless the command of the Spanish government fleet and advised him he had been given the order to reply to untoward incidents forcibly.

The official German news agency has announced the Kamerun was halted and searched by Spanish government war vessels outside Spanish territorial waters, off Cadiz.

Today's brusque instructions, telegraphed by the Hitler government to the German charge d'affaires in Madrid, ordered him to warn the Spanish government that Germany will hold it responsible for "all consequences" growing out of any similar incident in the future.

ITALY READY FOR TROUBLE

ROME.—Italy, reliably reported to be delaying demobilization of class of 1914 recruits, was ready today to play a lone hand in European neutrality negotiations coincident to the Spanish civil war.

Premier Mussolini, authoritative sources said, was determined to present a strong front against any possibility of Socialist government triumph in the civil war, even if he must do it alone.

War Scares Start

Delay in demobilization was applied to aviation and naval units. Infantry units, it was stated, already had been ordered dismissed to make way for the class of 1915. This step was termed characteristic.

HEAT TURNED ON IN U. S. POLITICS

Top-Flight Figures in Major Parties Lash At Opponents

By the Associated Press
Amid a burst of activity among top-flight figures in the major camps of the presidential campaign, Gov. Alf M. Landon turned eastward today in the Republican drive to defeat the New Deal.

While President Roosevelt, at Hyde Park, arranged further drought conferences prior to his swing into the scorched western farm country for a 10-day tour, the Kansas governor set out from his summer ranch at Estes Park, Colo., on a trip to carry him through nine states.

'Better Laws'
Leaders of both major parties continued to thrust at opponents. Speaking before the United Retail Merchants association at Hagerstown, Md., Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, declared that "the business of this country cannot be run from Washington."

Assailing what he described as "regimentation" and "cracking down," Knox called for "fewer, laws and better laws."

On the other side, Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee, in his first political broadcast since the conventions, said the Republicans were "vainly hoping that enough voters be frightened to secure the success of their ticket."

Two Scare Stories
Farley said in his speech from New York, that "the two favorite bogeymen in the state and dreary scare campaign which the Republicans are using in their efforts to intimidate the electorate," were:

1. That the public debt will bankrupt the country.
2. That sinister forces are at work in the Roosevelt administration to weaken the constitution.

"When we examine the Republican case," said Farley, "we find nothing but two scare stories, both of which disappear in the light of hard facts."

MORE ABOUT WAR THREATS

with Communism a strong minority, morally supports Spain's Socialist government.

Italy asserts France aids the Spanish Socialists "openly." Whatever the exact truth, France and Communist Russia anxiously and openly hope Spain's Socialist liberal government will win and crush out Fascism, still a threat in France.

Army vs. Citizenry
This is the thirty-fourth day of the Spanish rebellion.

Four-fifths of the army is fighting with the Fascist rebels. The Socialist government has only the remaining one-fifth of regular troops and an improvised, ill-trained militia.

It is the organized army against the embattled citizenry. Spain became a republic in 1931 because the people revolted against what they thought intolerable control by the king's courtiers, priests and landowners.

For five years Spain has struggled to find herself, each new government disappointing the country. Finally, elections last February showed an almost even division between all brands of liberals and all brands of Fascists, landowners, soldiers and moderates.

World Conflict
The apparent evenness of the present fighting indicates there is no overwhelming desire of the whole people for either Fascism or mixed Communism and Socialism. At present the rebels appear to have a slight edge over the government.

The world fight between Fascism and Liberalism, staving for years, brought into being Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

It brought Communist Russia and Socialist France.

A score of small nations divided in the same way, the "big four" furnish the danger of war, the ability to wage it and the evident willingness to start another world conflict if their political systems are threatened.

Italy today thought a compromise with France would result in the long delayed non-intervention pact. France began urging three weeks ago.

"Liberty of Action"
Sixteen nations, including "liberal" France and Russia and Fascist Germany and Italy agreed "in principle" to keep "hand off" the Spanish civil war. Germany and Italy made reservations. The other 12 who promised neutrality are Great Britain, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Bulgaria, Ireland and Greece.

France, working feverishly to formulate the pact, set last Saturday as the deadline for agreement. If the pact were not completed France proposed to resume "liberty of action" meaning freedom for one established Socialist government to aid another one put down a rebellion.

Desperate Situation
Spain today insisted an established government has full right to ask and get aid from another government to suppress a rebellion.

Interference, such as Italian aid to the rebel Fascists, high officials said, would be a violation of international law and might be taken to the league of nations. Officials refused to confirm they had asked or received aid from France.

RELEASE OF FASCISM AIM DEPUTY IS EXPLAINED

"I don't think he is physically fit to hold the job." Sheriff Logan Jackson made this statement today in explaining why he recently discharged George Graupensperger, deputy sheriff and superior court bailiff, after Graupensperger said he had recovered from auto crash injuries incurred in line of duty.

"He was given total disability by the county and by the insurance company," Sheriff Jackson said, "and I do not think he would be a good risk for the county's compensation insurance."

Graupensperger, blinded in August, 1934, when the car in which he was taking a prisoner to Norwalk state hospital crashed into an oil truck, said he had been promised his old job back when he was recovered. He added physicians had pronounced him completely recovered, but had been told his services were no longer needed.

Sheriff Jackson also said today that Special Deputy Sheriff Tom Murphy, on duty during the citrus strike, will become a regular deputy in two weeks, to substitute for Deputy James Musick while Musick plays professional football in the East for two or three months.

BALL PARK CASE IS ON TRIAL

Supervisor Willard Smith, county park commissioner, was called as a witness in Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel's superior court this morning as E. B. Finley sought to enjoin the board of supervisors from allowing admission to be charged at the Westminster ball park.

Smith was asked to explain what arrangements the county board had with the Westminster baseball club for use of the ball park. Finley alleges that the property was deeded to the county for park purposes, and that charging admission to games may cause it to revert to the original owners.

Francis Penhall, captain of the baseball team, testified that Chairman John Mitchell of the board of supervisors had told him the club must pay the county 9 per cent of gross receipts. He was ordered to bring in his account books this afternoon. Mrs. Kathryn Rose, ticket seller at the games, told Judge Scovel that if persons do not have money, and she thinks them worthy, she lets them in free. Judge W. H. Bentley, who acts as gatekeeper, said he also lets persons in free if they cannot pay.

MORE ABOUT BUDGET

mated a total aged case load of 1200 persons for the year, as compared with 500 to 600 last year. At the time he made the estimate, he said, there was a total of 500 cases and pending applications, that WPA was preparing to turn over 250 cases ruled ineligible for work because of age, and that at least another 100 cases could be expected.

His welfare budget, he said, was based on the estimate of cases and the cost per case to the county.

State Payments Slow
Supervisor W. C. Jerome said the state government makes its contribution for old age pensions monthly, but that the state has been very slow in paying. A certain amount of reserve is necessary, he contended.

"I think we have the best budget and the lowest tax rate the people here have seen," he said.

West, however, contended the welfare budget could be cut materially and still meet all the old age pension payments allowed under the law. The argument was still going on when Chairman John C. Mitchell rapped the gavel for noon adjournment.

OPPOSITION IS GROWING TO PARKING METERS HERE

The vote to date: Yes, 8; no, 40. Opposition to the city council's proposal to install parking meters on downtown streets is — well, there's lots of it.

More votes continued to roll in on The Journal's unofficial parking meter poll today, and of the crop there was only one "yes."

That couldn't count, either, because it was on a paper towel and not on a ballot. The office halfwit denies it.

It's really surprising how vindictive the opponents are. Several threaten "never to spend another dollar in Santa Ana if they put in parking meters."

Others hint "another angle to get the people's money," and a new racket, who's getting how much?

A philosopher steps forth. "Meters are not a solution of the parking problem," he says. "They are a dissolution. One can no more solve the problem by driving the people to other communities than he can solve a chess problem by burning up the chessboard and figures." And that's that.

Where does your vote go? Want meters or not?

FIVE GIVE ALIBIS IN RIOT CASE

Five Mexicans accused of rioting at the Gackstetter ranch, Orange, on July 6 today pleaded alibis as a superior court jury heard defense witnesses in Judge James L. Allen's court.

Defense Counsel Grover Johnson called a series of Mexicans who testified they were with the defendants on the day of the alleged riot, in which E. M. Edwards was beaten, and that the accused men did not take part.

Late yesterday when prosecution testimony was completed, Johnson moved for dismissal of charges against Aurelio Ruiz, Esquiel Pablano, and Leonardo Longorio. Judge Allen denied the motion. Johnson contended that only Roberto Felix and Esteban Rodriguez had been identified.

LAGUNA'S TAX RATE IS SET AT $1.29

Ordinance Regulating Bathing Suits Is Ordered Drawn

Diverse matters, ranging from fixing the tax rate at $1.29 and the adoption of a stringent emergency ordinance against vicious dogs, to discussion of abbreviated beach attire, sewer "stinks," garbage collection, and dog pounds, filled the calendar of last night's council meeting which lasted well after midnight.

The new dog law, going into effect today, was adopted as a health and safety measure on recommendation of the county health authorities. It was brought out that numerous complaints have been received regarding the "dog-bites" epidemic here.

The city attorney was instructed to draft a bathing suit ordinance similar to that now on the statute books of Long Beach, which, it was explained, regulates the wearing of beach attire in the streets.

Garbage Situation
Much time was devoted to the airing of complaints against unsatisfactory garbage collection. Councilman Tom Cummings urged that drastic steps be taken to remedy the situation. It was directed that a formal notice be served on the contractor and the surety bond company, demanding satisfactory performance of contract entered into with the city for the collection of garbage.

Three bids for the construction of an animal shelter, quoting figures between $1100 and $1200, were rejected. Because of the high quotations, it was decided to have the work done by the city.

"Elusive sewer stinks" in the Sleepy Hollow district, complained of by residents, brought forth an explanation that the city engineering department is now trying to locate a possible seepage or clogging in the sewer lines.

Name Commissioners
J. Edward Eberle, president of the city planning commission, and Ajax Wolfe, a member of the board of education, were named members of the city recreation commission.

A communication from the planning commission recommended that no resting benches be allowed on the streets in the "village." On motion of Councilman Charles H. Jester, it was decided to modify the policy adopted a few days ago and permit the placing of privately owned benches on city streets. No benches will be allowed, however, on the Coast boulevard and Forest avenue, it was explained.

An offer of the Business and Professional Women's club to finance the placing of tables and benches, made of concrete, at Woods Cove and at a suitable location on city-owned beach property near Broadway, was accepted.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Martin Moore told Judge Phillips today he was beaten with a rubber hose before he confessed the killing of Helen Clevenger at the time of his arrest.

J. F. Clevenger, of Great Falls, Staten Island, N. Y., father of Helen Clevenger, fainted as Moore approached the stand and had to be carried from the courtroom.

Moore said the hose was wielded by a "fat man" who also used his fist in seeking to obtain the negro's story. Moore said one of the blows was to his stomach.

Boulder Dam to Open Sept. 11

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Waterfall higher and larger than Niagara will be turned on Sept. 11 when President Roosevelt presses a button in Washington opening 12 giant needle valves at Boulder dam.

Huge cataracts from each side of the canyon wall will join in a torrent plunging 180 feet downward into the bed of the Colorado river. Five thousand cubic feet of water per second will pass through the spillways.

Three Die in Boiler Blast

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—The boiler of a freight locomotive crawling up a Lonely Valley track, exploded today, killing three men.

The blast tore the boiler from the engine chassis and threw all three men clear of the wreck.

Conductor Blaine Simmons of Nunnally of Hinton died before rescuers arrived. Burns caused the death of Fireman Ray E. Singer of Oak Hill in a Beckley hospital.

Safety Truck in 'Demonstration'

POMONA, (AP)—A truck being used for traffic safety tests became involved in an unscheduled demonstration with a Southern Pacific passenger train.

The truck crashed into the train at the Towne avenue crossing here yesterday. Several of the train's cars were damaged, and it was delayed a half hour in reaching Los Angeles.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

The Republicans announce a barbecue next Saturday at Orange county park.

So far I haven't seen the menu, but I imagine there'll be two main courses.

First course: Roast beef, buns and applesauce. Some capable person, I hope, will take a few critters, put 'em over the coals, baste 'em with juice and seasoning, slice 'em up and put between bread and presto! It's called barbecue, no matter how thin the slices of meat, unless you choke on the bread and lose your temper.

Second course: Roast Democrat, bologna and applesauce. Speakers will no doubt be present to take Democrats, roast 'em over the coals, lam-baste 'em with administration follies, and no matter how thick the chunks "bologna is bologna."

Still, I like barbecue, and I'm getting used to applesauce, so if I only had the price of admission, I'd go up Saturday even if the money raised was to be used to send straw hats to the Eskimos.

NASON UNDER FIRE FROM MINISTERS

That the ministers' committee of the Advent Christian Conference plans action against the Rev. Howard F. Nason of Tustin was indicated yesterday when representatives of the committee appeared for Nason's preliminary hearing on morals charges.

In justice court records was placed a letter from L. E. Baker, chairman of the committee, designating the Rev. William G. Knowlton of La Verne as authorized to attend the hearing and two other ministers were barred yesterday when the courtroom was cleared of all but the Rev. Mr. Nason, Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, and two attorneys.

"This action was taken," the ministerial committee letter said, "so that the ministers' committee might have first hand information in dealing with the case of Mr. Nason, as he is a member of said conference."

Nason yesterday was bound to the superior court on nine counts of statutory offenses against small boys and two counts of contributing to the delinquency of minors. A number of boys and their fathers testified at the hearing.

BOSTON SCOUT COMING
GRID AND MAT NOTES
LEVENS, BOWE SIGNED

Ernie Johnson of the Boston Red Sox will arrive in Santa Ana Tuesday.

His baseball ivory-hunting completed in midwestern and southern states, Ernie returns here to comb the west for semi-pro talent as well as to inspect timber in the Pacific Coast League.

He and Mrs. Johnson, having sold their home at Laguna Beach, plan to establish residence in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Johnson, Ernie Johnson who has been visiting her husband on his tour, which ended at a semi-pro tournament in Wichita, arrived here Sunday.

Ever heard of Clinton Reckwig? He's none other than the Orange County Athletic club's demon press-agent whom you wrestling addicts know as Tige Clinton, the former sports editor of the Long Beach Sun.

Miss Ruth Lee, who as a softball cutie for the Green Cats led the Santa Ana Girls' league in hitting at .500, is doing right well for the Orange Lionettes, too. She drove out five bingles in six trials, and a teammate, Miss Gertrude Aming, smashed three homers in a 12-11 heart-breaker the Lionettes lost to the Paradise Girls of Los Angeles this week.

In answer to several inquiries: Danny Fries, midge mascot of the Stars, is 18. He is a brother of Joe Fries, the ex-Don distance king.

Fullback Byron Nott will be with Bill Cook's junior collegians after all. Nott is not entering the U. S. Navy.

Byron is a brother of Halfback Dwight Nott, captain-elect of the Saint varsity. They are cousins of Floyd (Toy) Blower of California's Golden Bears.

LeRoy Levens, the fine-fielding little infielder, and Herb Bowe, home run-hitting catcher, have been acquired from the City League Elks to bolster the Long Beach Coast Auto Park's lineup in the Examiner's Southern California softball tournament. The team is coached by the former Santa Ana, Earl Jones, who was forced to make the additions to compensate for the loss of Bruce Harnois and Cliff Edmundson, ineligible for the tournament because they play in the National league—Harnois for Westminster, Edmundson for Anaheim.

"Like a lot of other foolish fellows I thought I could get the title back after a long layoff," Jack Sharkey is quoted as saying.

Foolish? He received $35,621 for putting that thought into action. Foolish?

LOPEZ PLANS PROTEST OF LEVIN WIN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Another feud split the wrestling clans today as Dave Levin, Brooklyn butcher boy, claimed the "undisputed heavyweight championship," and Vincent Lopez, Idaho Mexican, cried "foul."

Sharpshooters from both camps fired arguments over what did and did not happen before the gaze of 20,000 fans when Levin trounced Lopez in two out of three falls last night at Wrigley field.

"I'm going to protest to the state athletic commission," roared Lopez. "I may even quit wrestling. I don't mind losing, but it was the way I lost that hurts."

Lopez asserted that Referee Verne McCullough of Salt Lake City should have awarded him the deciding fall on a foul. Levin struck him in the groin, the Mexican said.

"I'm positive I did not hit Lopez low," answered Levin. "As far as fouling was concerned, I was fouled more last night than I have ever been in my whole grappling career."

It required 15 minutes, 35 seconds, for Lopez to win the first fall. He weakened Levin with a head lock, smashed over two elbows to the head and then flattened the Brooklynite with two body slams.

When Lopez stepped on the Jewish boy's face and slugged him while out of the ring, he lost the second fall in 25 minutes, 53 seconds, by disqualification.

Charging back for the third round, Levin bounced Lopez with a right uppercut, followed with forearm smashes to the jaw and body, and clinaxed this exhibition of the wrestling art by body pressing the Mexican to the mat in 6 minutes, 11 seconds.

"Maybe there'll be a rematch," ventured Promoter Lou Daro.

Heavyweight Art Lasky Fights Off Blindness

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Art Lasky, Minneapolis heavyweight, is fighting the hardest battle of his career, flat on his back, with a long, white bandage clamped over his eyes.

Partial blindness has put him down, but not out.

The tall, Jewish youngster, who in three years has boxed most of pugilism's top flight, from Champion Jim Braddock on down, tried to muster a grin as he admitted:

"I didn't think anything of it at first, but now the doctor tells me he doesn't know whether I'll ever be able to fight again. I'm sorry, because I was going along so good after such a bad start."

Newport-Balboa Has Fine Run of Croaker

Fishing for yellowfin and spotfin croaker has reached its peak at Newport-Balboa, with sensational catches being reported.

Anglers have been coming in with catches of 12 to 15 spotfin, some weighing as high as five and six pounds. The Arches, Lido Isle bridge and Balboa Island have been the best spots. The fish are biting on razor clams.

All along the surf between Newport and Balboa the yellowfin are being hooked in great numbers, reports the Lynn Scotsman, jr., fishing expert. Soft-shell crabs are being used.

A Placencia fisherman hooked 40 pounds of yellowfin in the surf off 19th street, Newport, this week. One angler caught seven yellowfin croaker and cast out only six times.

Fishing on the live-bait barges, "The California" and "Paramount," has consisted mainly of halibut, mackerel, sand-dab and tom-cod.

Commercial fishermen believe the season's big run of albacore and skipjack is getting under way.

run lead with a seventh-inning spurge, but neither he nor his reliever, Johnny Marcum, could hold it against the A's attack in the eighth. In the nightcap, Fritz Ostermuller and Jack Russell were equally helpless.

Yanks Increase Edge
With the National league's pace-setters, the Cardinals, the Yankees continued their mad rush toward the lead by chalking up their ninth straight win, a 3-2 decision over their Brooklyn "cousins," with Carl Hubbell turning in a five-hitter for his 18th triumph and Mel Ott helping along with his 27th homer.

The American league edge of the Yankees was increased to 12 full games. Murderer's Row and heavy-hitting Pitcher Charley Ruffing snapped out of their slump together and trounced the Senators, 7-4.

The second-place Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox were idle.

The Pirates pushed over a run in the last of the ninth to down the slipping Cubs, 5-4. The Bees ended a four-game losing streak with a 9-1 win over the Phillies. The Cards and Reds took a scheduled day off.

THREE DEATHS AT OLYMPIC VILLAGE

BERLIN. (AP)—Three post-games fatalities from Germany's Olympic village were disclosed today—one of them the suicide of the village vice-commandant.

The newest death was that of the Rumanian featherweight boxer, Nicolai Berechet, who recently was taken to a hospital from the village, suffering from a carbuncle.

He died as a result of blood poisoning, authorities said.

The capt. Wolfhard Fuerstner, vice-commandant of the Olympic village, had committed suicide.

At the same time it was learned another popular figure in the Olympic organization, Gustav Kuhne, had died suddenly, with the cause as yet undetermined.

Kuhne, inspecting chief of the north German-Lloyd steamship lines, had been chosen for an executive post on the village command staff because of his wide experience.

Fuerstner, the propaganda minister, had killed himself, "presumably because of nervous strain and overwork."

SEAL WIN AIDS BEAVER NINE

(By the Associated Press)
Portland's league-leading Beavers gained a half-game in the Coast league standings by remaining idle last night while the San Francisco Seals defeated Seattle for the second game in a row.

Oakland, the only first-division team to register a triumph, moved into a third-place tie with San Diego, and went two full games ahead of the San Francisco Mission in their "crucial" series.

The Seals beat Seattle, 7-6, while a sandlot pitcher, making his first start for the Sacramento Solons, trimmed San Diego, 10-8. Los Angeles and Portland remained idle while a wrestling match was held at Wrigley field.

"Wee Willie" Ludolph, Oakland's perennial winning pitcher, celebrated a special night in his honor by outlasting four Mission pitchers for his 100th Coast league victory, and his 19th of the current season.

Bill Porter, Sacramento rookie, won with the aid of three home runs.

'CURLY' MILLS HURT

TYPISTS BOW TO TERRY'S NINE, 12-1

Exhibition With Orange Lionettes Scheduled at Bowl Saturday

Despite one of her infrequent "off" nights, in which she walked five rivals, fanned only three and yielded eight safeties, Miss Lois Terry pitched Max Factor's Hollywood softball queens to a 12-1 victory over the Tiernan Typists here last night.

Miss Esther Coates, substituting for Miss Bobbie Wakeham, who is vacationing in San Diego, was the victim of a nine-run assault in the second. After that she settled down and hurled well to hold the formidable invaders to 10 hits.

The nine-run rally consisted of a long-distance home run into center field by Miss Terry. Southern California's smoothest softball pitcher, three walks by Twirler Wakeham and a triple, double, single and two errors. The Factor femmes batted almost twice around.

The Santa Ana champions, coached by Bomo Koral, Jim Coates and Gordon Mallett, scored their lone tally undramatically in the fourth, with Miss Dorothy Stevens driving out a single, and scoring on consecutive passed balls after being advanced a base on Miss Kate Dahm's walk.

The "battle of the century" is anticipated at the Municipal bowl here Saturday night when the Tiernan Typists and Orange Lionettes, both entered in The Examiner's Southern California tournament, appear in a special exhibition.

Lopez-Cantonwine Supporting Card Completed Here

Promoter Sam Sampson today completed his entire supporting card for Monday night's wrestling gigant at the Orange County Athletic club between Vincent Lopez and Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine.

Fresh from last night's open air undisputed championship wrestling match at Wrigley field and showing no real ill effects from his match with Dave Levin, Lopez is scheduled to grapple Cantonwine in a best two-out-of-three-fall match Monday.

Supporting the gigantic, Sampson has Leo Papiano, the rough and tumble San Francisco Greek, against George Kondelis for the "Greek championship," while Lopez' protegee, Johnny Del Rio meets Baby Bob Coleman and Herb Freeman, 240-pound New York Jewish star who went two hours to a draw with the former champion, Jim London, two years ago, opposes Maya McCain, Nebraska Indian, in the opener.

Tickets will be placed on sale throughout the county tomorrow, Promoter Sampson said, and will be on sale tonight at the arena. Telephone reservations also are being accepted, Sampson said, and officials anticipate a crowd upwards of 2500 to see the coming show.

Max Baer Scores Another Knockout

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Max Baer, former heavyweight champion, knocked out James J. Walsh of Edmonton, Alta., in the first round of a scheduled four-round event, then crowned through two rounds each with Sonny Buxton of Victoria and Brother Buddy Baer here last night.

It was Baer's only listed Pacific northwest bout in his comeback attempt for a shot at the crown held by Jimmy Braddock.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT SET TONIGHT

Singleton Offers First Card Since Securing Lease on 101 Club

Whites vs. Blacks.
That's the set-up for Promoter Bob Singleton's eight-bout program of fistfuffs at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

The Los Angeles negro puncher will exchange blows with local favorites in the first double main event since Singleton purchased a year's lease on the Highway 101 fight palace.

Ray (Kayo) Vargas, the "Atwood Assassin," will attempt to outbox the side stepping negro from the big city, Johnny Wilks, in one half of the main event, which will be shared by the hard-punching Orange boy, Bud McCarter, and Dusky Jim Davis from Los Angeles.

The Garden Grove battler who made such a hit last week, Bernie (The Swede) Pollock, will take a crack at Leonard Gibbs, L. A. colored clouter.

For his special event Promoter Singleton will offer Art Arroya, Westminster's handsome lad who is climbing the ropesback trail, against Johnny Walker, another Los Angeles negro.

Other bouts: Cecil Payne, Long Beach blond, vs. Henry Moberly, black giant from Los Angeles; Jesse Brazil, Westminster, vs. Odel Pake, L. A. negro; Jim Merced, Placencia, vs. Delano Smith, Los Angeles; and "Tiny Tarzan" Barney Reese, slippery youngster, vs. Roy Harrison, Los Angeles darky.

The show opens at 8:30.

FRED PERRY TO PLAY IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Frederick J. Perry, England's world tennis champion, was entered today in both singles and doubles of the Pacific Southwest tournament, scheduled Sept. 18-27 at the Los Angeles Tennis club.

A wire from the amateur netting asked the management to obtain Frank Shields as his doubles partner. Shields, veteran of three American Davis cup campaigns and now a featured movie player, readily agreed.

Ellsworth Vines' Net Tour Opposed

MELBOURNE, Australia. (AP)—The Australian Lawn Tennis Association said today it had told Ellsworth Vines, lanky American professional, his proposed exhibition tour here will not be agreeable to that body.

Norman Brooks, veteran Davis Cup player, explained that the International Lawn Tennis Federation had requested that such visits by professionals be discouraged.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SOMEWHERE else on this page, the eager reader should discover that energetic young Gardner Groves have gone and arranged a junior chamber of commerce.

For which they should be congratulated. They'll be able to do lots of good and have lots of fun. And they got off to a good start. Bill "Wee Willie" Queale, president of a like group in Fullerton and a few of his cronies, including Lloyd (lawyer) Verry and Bob Hatfield, told 'em just how to run a successful organization.

And I'd like to hold that Fullerton bunch up for a little admiration—they've completed lots of successful projects in the past year or so—member Admiral Byrd, for one? And getting baseball teams to train in Fullerton? And such things.

They've set a good example for the infant club. And, from what I hear, the Groves are going to start with bang, and do lots of things for their town.

Election time means more to William H. Bentley, "Judge" Bentley, to you, pioneer resident of the Westminster district.

Because Judge Bentley saw the first election time in Orange county, and remembers it well. In fact, he took part in it. Here's his interesting history:

He arrived in Westminster June 15, 1877. (And he's lived there ever since.) At that time, there were only 7000 people in Los Angeles—the census in 1880, he said, showed 11,000. Chamber of commerce business, no doubt.

The first Democratic convention held in Orange county was in 1890, when county officers were nominated. Judge Bentley recalls that other counties, Orange county was divided into precincts, and each had a central committeeman. Each precinct held a primary election to send their allotted number of delegates to the county convention, held in Santa Ana. There, the delegates agreed upon who should be nominated for each county office, including who should be central committeeman.

And, in 1890, Judge Bentley was named a delegate to that first Democratic convention as a central committeeman. But that's only half of it!

He was elected before he had cast his first vote! But, of course, he was registered. And the judge has gone along being central committeeman until he's run up what appears to be a world record, or something—he's held that same political position for the past 46 years, which must be something no other central committeeman has done!

I'm expecting to see several newspapermen hustled into an early grave within the next few days, since this "knock knock" business was started in Santa Ana.

Especially the contest editor, who already is biting his fingernails and tearing out huge chunks of hair from his aching head.

You've seen the announcement of the "knock knock" contest in The Journal, haven't you? One huck for the first prize winner every day. Also a month's subscription to the paper for second prize.

I'd like to join up with some of our pun-conscious readers and complete the job of driving the unfortunate contest editor, whose name is being concealed even from his family, completely out of his head. Just send in a few "knock knock" jokes, using the worst puns you can dig up. We'll fire 'em at him, poor guy, and then you come around in a couple of days and we'll watch him scuttle under his desk every time someone comes into the office and then start babbling knock knock until he's in a strait jacket or a fuss or a mood, or something.

Remarks about a mood-throwing contest are barred here, due to danger of this department being attacked by knock-knockitis. If I'm not mistaken, it should say "be time for" Congressman Sam L. Collins to entertain members of the Fullerton Round Table (Chishlers) club with his annual venison dinner.

About this time of year approximately 500 members of the famed cigar-grabbing venison. It's always possible—50-50 chance, in fact—that they'll eat barbecued goat or donkey or something, instead of venison. Although the congressman's a good deer hunter.

The Chishlers haven't had a big blowout since Judge Kenneth Morrison, well known Santa Ana speeder slapper, was the "victim" at a meeting, when he became member No. 500. They're about ready for something else, by this time!

Orange Pair on Northern Trip

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Knesel, North Harwood street, left Wednesday on a motor trip which will take them north over the coast highway to Crescent City, Big Basin and Grants Pass, Ore. They will visit friends and relatives in the north, and return through Chico and Sacramento.

HUNTINGTON BEACH TO GET $50,000 RECREATION PROJECT

APPROVAL OF GOVERNMENT RECEIVED

Date Set for Start of Work as Federal Aid Is Offered City

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Construction work on a $50,000 recreation hall project should start here within the next six weeks, it was announced last night by Councilman Lee Chamness, following a meeting of the city council.

Chamness announced receipt of formal approval of an application for a federal grant of $23,400 for the project. The grant now only awaits the signature of President Roosevelt, he added.

Plan Two Projects
The ocean front recreation hall was one of two projects approved by voters here last April. The other was a straw hat on a pedestal, the city installing or acquiring a municipal water plant. Councilmen said last night that steps are now being taken to investigate the water situation here and developments in the matter are expected soon.

The council heard the first reading of an ordinance last night which would change fire zones in the business district to allow construction of a $12,000 business and residence structure at Olive and Main streets. In connection with the re-zoning plan, council members and others pointed out need for a planning commission and urged forming of such a body here.

Improve Camp Ground
The council also approved an agreement with the chamber of commerce whereby the city will pay approximately $2000 for office rent and other expenses of the chamber. Plans for a $4000 improvement project in the municipal camp ground were also announced by Councilman Chamness. Word was also received by the civic group that construction work on opening of Frankfort avenue, traffic artery which will connect the east portion of town with the business district, was to be started this morning. Cost of the work will be approximately $8000.

PIER REMOVAL PROJECT SEEN

LAGUNA BEACH.—The city fathers today reconciled themselves to the fact that the city itself will have to remove what is left of the wreckage of the old fishing pier at the foot of Aster street.

Two San Diego men, who several weeks ago offered to remove the old pier for the salvage involved, apparently changed their mind about the "profit" to be had after learning that a part of the upper deck work had been washed away, by huge breakers that swept the structure about 10 days ago.

It is understood that Councilman Howard G. Heisler will offer a formal suggestion that the wreckage be removed at low tide, thus eliminating what now constitutes an eyesore to the surroundings.

Fund Raised for Taxi Driver Victim of Bandit

LAGUNA BEACH.—Contributing to funds collected here for Bud Marshall, local taxi driver, now in St. Joseph's hospital, was a free-will offering of more than $100 taken up a few days ago among the members of the Community Presbyterian church. The amount was turned over to the parents of the injured man to help defray hospital expenses.

Marshall was shot about six weeks ago by two young bandits who kidnaped and robbed him. The bandit's bullet lodged near the lower end of the spine, paralyzing the victim from the waist down.

'Lucky Feet' Assure Success

If there is anything to the time honored superstition that there is luck in a rabbit's foot then the unprecedented success of the fifteenth annual Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona Sept. 18 to Oct. 4 is assured for there will be some 8000 bunny feet belonging to 2000 bunnies on hand as entries in the huge rabbit, poultry and pigeon show held in conjunction with the big agricultural and industrial exposition. Here is Miss Daisy Houts, pretty Pomona girl, with a prize New Zealand white rabbit entered in the fair.

FORM JUNIOR CHAMBER AT GARDEN GROVE MEETING

GARDEN GROVE.—Featured by election of temporary officers and discussion of plans for a year of activity, a junior chamber of commerce was formed at a meeting here Tuesday evening.

Heading the new group is Ralph Michelson, as president; George Tobias, first vice-president; Allen Goddard and George Tobias to work with him on plans for the affair. A committee including Lester Frink, Charles Malbon and Harry L. Lake was appointed to investigate possibilities of obtaining a lighted sign to be placed on Manchester road giving directions for reaching Garden Grove.

LIONS HEAR ATTACK ON MEASURE

ORANGE.—Branding the manner of presentation of the single tax measure on the ballot in November, hidden in the repeal of the sales tax, as "disrespectable as to almost be fraudulent," Dian Gardner, chairman of the tax committee of the Orange County Farm bureau, spoke Wednesday noon before the Lions club.

He said this item is by far more important than all other questions to come before the people at the polls, except election of the President. He added that nine-tenths of those who signed the petition to have the measure put on the ballot, did not know what they were sponsoring.

Gardner explained the single tax as a means to confiscate real property without payment by the state. When taxes are all forced on the land, with no income from person or excise taxes, the object is confiscation, he continued. Single tax proponents admit this, he stated, adding that communistic influences are back of the measure.

House-Party Murder

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

How gay a gathering it was that assembled that week-end at the great country house—how gay at the outset. But how terrifying was the life of every member to become within a few short hours. For one among them, the others were soon to discover, was a killer—silent, sure, ruthless. Was the slayer man or woman, human or phantom? No one knew. And some were destined never to know. They were to die too soon, too suddenly.

Of 133 Applicants Only 29 Given Aid, SERA Report Reveals

Transient don't get much encouragement or aid in Orange county, according to a voluminous survey, "Transients in California" recently published by the division of surveys, SERA.

In its 510 pages the report mentions Orange county only briefly, but it relates that from Dec. 16, 1935, to Jan. 26, 1936, the period of its statistical study, 133 persons applied for aid, and only 29 were given relief.

Of 19 men and boys who applied, one was given relief and 18 were turned away. Of five women and girls, one was given relief, one was given service, and three were turned away. There were 109 family cases, the report said. Of these 27 were given relief, eight were given service, and 74 were turned away. The cases surveyed were all handled by the SERA office here.

Half-Minute News Stories

BOLT THREW HIM IN REVERSE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Forest Ranger Howard A. Snyder reports this lightning vagary.

"Lightning struck a tree snag about 30 feet from J. D. Parnell, a Negro, in Choctawhatchee national forest. He was literally picked up from the ground, turned head over heels three times and set down on his feet headed in the opposite direction from that in which he was walking."

ONE SINNER STAYED AWAY

STAUNTON, Va. — One sinner wasn't at the church to hear the Rev. Elmer D. Joy's sermon.

While the minister preached a short distance away, a thief stole into his home and stole a watch and other articles. It was the second such robbery at the parsonage within three months.

THE GUEST IS ALWAYS RIGHT

DALLAS — John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, stayed in the Roosevelt suite at a hotel here last night but probably didn't know it.

Hotel authorities removed the plate from the door before he arrived.

PRESIDENT CAST HIS BREAD ON WATER

OKLAHOMA CITY. — John C. Campbell, president of a bank, was standing in front just after locking up for the day. An oil field worker walked up with a check in his hand and Campbell obligingly went inside and cashed it.

As they came out the fellow tossed a dime to the bank president, saying "thanks a lot buddy, take this and buy yourself a cigar." Campbell said he did—and it was a pretty good cigar.

Bourbons Again Refer to Civil Service; G. O. P. Cites Glass' Anti-New Deal Talk

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and E. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

BY THE DEMOCRATS

Paul W. Ward, Washington correspondent writing for The Baltimore Sun, which is no defender of the New Deal, in a dispatch written from Topeka, says:

"Research showed that his (Governor Landon's) own state has no civil service system at all, although, according to state officials, a law providing for one has been on the Kansas statute books since before the war. No governor has ever seen fit to appropriate sufficient funds to put the law into operation. Once $800 was appropriated to pay the salary of a clerk. That was before Landon."

"Under Governor Landon there has been no appropriation at all and the civil service law remains inoperative. There are no competitive examinations for state jobs. Department heads fix the salaries of their subordinates. Judging by appearances, there is more superfluous help—relatively—in the state house here than in any of the New Deal agencies in Washington. In nearly two weeks of traveling from one office to another in the Kansas capitol, no persons were encountered who seemed to be working, outside of the governor's suite of offices."

"All posts appear to be filled on a patronage basis. Leaders in both the Republican and Democratic camps said there is a general housecleaning whenever there is a change of administrations."

"When a Democrat, Ed Powers, who was elected state auditor, was elected last September, Landon appointed a Republican, George Robb, to the post, and Powers' appointees were at once replaced by Republican jobholders."

"The governor might do well to remember," concludes the article, "that reform, like charity, begins at home."

S. A. OFFICER IN CEREMONIES

"It's going to be a great thing for California."

So reported George Boyd, Santa Ana police officer and chamber of commerce representative, at the cornerstone laying of the Grand National Livestock Exposition building at San Francisco this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were entertained by a number of San Francisco livestock enthusiasts during their visit in the north, during which Boyd assisted in laying the cornerstone of the $1,500,000 building.

San Franciscans exhibited much pleasure at seeing a representative from Santa Ana, Boyd reported, and said they hoped Orange county would be represented at the opening next year.

La Habra Woman Is Radio Winner

Mrs. George M. Eaby of La Habra was notified this week that she is a winner in the Canam RCA Victor prize contest.

The J. C. Horton Furniture Co., local RCA Victor dealer, today made the award of the prize, a model C-11-1 RCA Victor radio receiving instrument, with the famous Magic Eye, Magic Brain and metal tubes.

The whole family stood by as George Horton took the prize in the door and went about the business of installing the new type all wave antenna which came with the award.

The winner was one of 1470 who submitted the best answers in a nation wide contest in which $100,000 worth of RCA Victor radios and $3000 in cash prizes were given away.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS AT JAYSEE

Engineering Department Made One of Finest In Southland

Addition of two instructors to the engineering department of Santa Ana Junior college was announced today by H. O. Russell, head of the jaysee division.

Harold Moomaw, Lathrop Junior High instructor, will teach surveying and mechanical drawing courses beginning with the fall term in September, Russell said. Moomaw is a graduate of Oregon State college, and he worked as an engineer with the Oregon State Highway department before coming to Santa Ana.

Add New Course

Moomaw replaces R. G. Bond, who will conduct mechanics classes at Santa Ana High school on a free time basis beginning in September.

Norman Hicks, junior college graduate and instructor at Willard Junior High, will hold classes in radio electricity, an entirely new course in the jaysee curriculum, Russell said. He received his masters' degree last June at U. S. C., where he majored in radio communication.

Complete Course

Hicks will not begin his work at the junior college until the second semester of the fall term when the course in radio electricity is offered for the first time.

Addition of two new faculty members will enable the junior college engineering department to offer one of the most complete assortment of courses of any jaysee in the state, Russell said.

Breakfast Club Hears Program

Ernest Leue in blackface sketches and Arthur Casey in monologues entertained the Breakfast club at the Main cafeteria, assisted by Jack Walker of calisthenic fame; Ray Ramon, pianist, and Eddie Marib, song director.

The entertainment part of the program was supplemented by invited comment from Joe Smith, candidate for state senator, and W. C. Jerome, candidate for supervisor, who spoke seriously about the lack of interest in the coming primary election which occurs next Tuesday, and urged each one to vote, and make the same request of their neighbors.

Minister's Son Admits Murder

WALLA WALLA, (AP)—La Verne Marks, 19-year-old Wisconsin minister's son, was taken aboard an east-bound limited train at Pasco, Wash., at 3:30 a. m. today in custody of Sheriff Otto Druekroy of Shavano, Wis., to face trial there for first degree murder.

The youth, who has allegedly confessed killing Robert Bernstein, 24-year-old hunting companion, near Shawano in July, taking Bernstein's auto and money and fleeing to the coast, was convicted of a robbery charge at Tacoma.

M'Adoo Predicts F.D.R. Landslide

NEW YORK, (AP)—Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo of California told Democratic Chairman Farley today his state would "very likely give President Roosevelt the largest popular vote of any state in the union."

Citing the Democratic majority of approximately 583,000 in the recent California registration, Senator McAdoo said the state "is now the strongest Democratic state in the union."

Sharps and Flats From The Political Bandwagon

LABOR WOULD HAVE LICKED DEPRESSION

PHILADELPHIA. — Jerome Davis, Yale university teacher, said today that financial excesses of the 1920's and the depression would have been avoided if labor had been more strongly organized.

COAT'S AS GOOD ON OTHER SIDE

NEW YORK. — Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, a frequent critic of New Deal legislation, conferred today with Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and said "I'll do all I can" to assure the re-election of President Roosevelt. "Any fair estimate of the Roosevelt administration as a whole shows it has been exceeding good for the country."

ONE WAY TO MAKE VOTE UNANIMOUS

NEW YORK. — After a fist fight involving two of its leaders, the executive committee of Tammany Hall announced it had "unanimously" agreed to the wishes of James J. Dooling, the Tammany leader who named three men to help manage the organization during his illness.

LIBERALISTS LOOK TO 1940 CAMPAIGN

MADISON, Wis. — Liberal leaders of Wisconsin and Minnesota turned their attention today toward formation of a national farmer-labor party in 1940. In a conference they decided the time was not ripe for a new party movement this year and decided to have nothing to do with the Union party of Congressman William Lemke, North Dakota, and Father Charles Coughlin, Detroit radio priest.

SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF

DETROIT. — Father Coughlin said he was "extremely proud of the sensible way" the convention of his National Union for Social Justice was conducted in Cleveland last week.

BOUBONS TO GATHER AT ORANGE

Invite All Candidates to Speak at Giant Rally Tonight

"We point with pride—" "We view with alarm—" Candidates for state and national offices will do plenty of it tonight as they get a free rein to say just what they want—with time limits—at a Democratic rally at Orange American Legion hall.

All candidates for office have been invited to attend the rally, according to Curtis Burrow, president of the Santa Ana Young Democrats club. The meeting, sponsored by county Young Democrats, will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Horace Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, may preside at the meeting and will introduce the speakers. Several Los Angeles Democrats leaders may attend the session to do verbal shadow-boxing from the platform, Burrow said.

The session will be without a regular chairman, since Stanley Clem, president of the county committee of Young Democrats, resigned his office in the midst of a battle with WPA heads over their relief administration Tuesday. A successor will be named in September.

GUNSHOT KILLS RADIO STAR

SANTA MONICA, (AP)—The Crockett family, hillbilly radio entertainers, were crushed by tragedy today.

Clarence Crockett, 30, was found fatally wounded in his home. He had been drinking heavily for several days, his wife, Linda, told police.

She said she had remonstrated with her husband and when he threatened to shoot her, she took her children, 4 and 6 years of age, to the nearby home of Crockett's father yesterday.

A moment later they heard a shot. The father, J. H. Crockett, found his son with a bullet hole in his temple.

Name's Much Longer Than Boy

HONOLULU, (AP)—He's just a little fellow but there's nothing small about the name of the month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Murray Judd of Honolulu. The christened him Kana-ni-okea-ku-ho-we-e-lamaka-kalani Judd.

It's Hawaiian for "The Beautiful-Aroma-of-My-Home-at-Sparkling-Diamond-Hill-Is-Carried-to-the-Eyes-of-Heaven." Just to save you the trouble, it was 63 letters.

Negro Indicted On Murder Charge

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Cook county grand jury was reported today to have voted a true bill charging Rufe Swain, 27-year-old Negro, with murdering Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell, 24, former Knoxville, Tenn., stenographer, in her near South Side hotel room Saturday night.

Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers, who earlier had announced he would ask a murder indictment, said Swain confessed the crime.

++ History Makers ++ Picturesque Indians Chronicled by Father Jeronimo Boscana

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about Father Boscana.—Editor)

The Rev. Jeronimo Boscana was an unusual scholar. He observed the Indians and wrote about their beliefs and customs. He was a missionary at San Juan Capistrano from 1812 to 1826.

He was born May 23, 1776, in the country town of Llumayor on the island of Mallorca in eastern Spain. He became a Franciscan at the college in Palma, the capital of the island. While yet a young man he came to Alta California, where he studied the Indians and worked among them, bringing to them the civilization of the white man.

His writings are of great value to the student of the West coast Indians. The Indian dog "Chingichin" was thoroughly studied by him. "Chingichin" made man from the mud of the lake. He did not make one man but he made several men and several women. The Indians believed that from the urine that was spilled by the Coyote the sea was formed.

Boscana thought that the Indians of this territory were from the Chichimeca race, because they were similar to that race. However, the origin of each race was hidden in the vague past.

Strange were the rituals the Indians performed. They had feasts and ceremony when the age of puberty arrived. Marriage was observed with much feasting. The groom came to the abode of the woman and watched her work, and if she was lazy he did not marry her.

Industry was foremost in the behavior of the women. It seems that the men were the idle fellows and did little except hunt and enjoy themselves.

There is an excellent pamphlet put out by the Smithsonian institute about the Indians of this territory, taken from the works of Father Boscana. (Volume 92, No. 4, publication 3255.)

The man who wrote about the customs and habits and characteristics of the Indians of this locality has a secure place in history in the field of ethnology.

Father Boscana died in 1831, still a middle-aged man, leaving for us his valuable accounts of Indian life.

Carmichael Has Lots of Fun Campaigning; Watson Is Not Punching Doorbells

W. J. Carmichael of Fullerton, who seeks election to the board of supervisors from the Third district, probably is having more fun in the campaign than any other candidate, while Clyde Watson of Orange, Democratic candidate to the state assembly from the 74th district, has been conducting a novel campaign in that he has refrained from using windshield stickers and window cards, and has done no house-to-house canvassing.

"I'm just visiting all the folks in the Third district and having a good time," Carmichael reported.

"I meet all the other candidates, and they're all good fellows. We are telling them the facts about ourselves, and there's no back-biting."

He finds the campaign one of the most friendly in his experience, and thinks the newspapers have been very fair and friendly, too.

"We're just leaving it up to the folks of the district to decide," he said.

Fullerton Red Cross Plans for Fall Campaign

Work of the Red Cross is relieving suffering after floods and storms had made thousands of middle-western and eastern families homeless last spring will be shown in films to be used by the Fullerton Red Cross in its annual roll call campaign.

Decision to launch the membership drive Nov. 11 and terminate it at Thanksgiving was made last night at a meeting of the Fullerton Red Cross chapter.

Harry Welsh, appointed roll call chairman, will announce within a few days his leaders for the house-to-house canvass, group enrollment, and a special gift campaign.

The disaster relief film and a motion picture trailer featuring Shirley Temple are to be used in connection with the drive to secure 1600 members in the Fullerton chapter.

Morrrows Plan American Tour

E. S. Morrrow, former manager of the telephone company here, Mrs. Morrrow, and Mrs. Susan Rutherford, all former Santa Anans now living in Balboa, will leave Monday for a three-months' automobile trip through Canada and around the United States.

The party will drive up the Pacific coast and into Canada, visiting Ontario and Quebec, then through New England and down the Atlantic coast, returning by way of the Southern states.

Gary Cooper In Suit Again

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Gary Cooper, already the pawn in Paramount's $5,000,000 suit against Goldwyn pictures, figured in another action today, this time for a mere $1,000,000.

Edward D. Venturini, writer-director, named Cooper, Paramount, and others as defendants, alleging his adaptation of the book, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," was used in making a starring vehicle for the actor without Venturini's consent.

DULIN GETS JOB

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—William O. Dulin, pardoned of complicity in the murder of Mickey Erno after three years' imprisonment, was promised reinstatement today in his old job of motorman for the Los Angeles Railway Company.

INTEREST AND PENALTIES WAIVED

Ten-Year Payment Plan On Delinquencies Is Extended

Only 11 days remain for taxpayers to take advantage of special "bargains" in tax redemption offered by state law during August, County Auditor W. T. Lambert warned today.

During the one month all penalties and interest will be waived if taxpayers pay up their back taxes. Furthermore, those who are clearing away past delinquencies on the 10-year payment plan will have interest previously paid credited on the principal if they pay up this month.

In one case, Lambert revealed, one of the time-payment accounts which was nearly finished had enough interest already paid to complete the payment when credited to the principal, and left a small amount of balance to be paid back to the property owner.

The right to make payments in installments has been extended to April 20, 1937, Lambert said. Conditions are the same as in the past, requiring payment of accrued interest to date of payment, figured at 7 per cent from July 1, 1935, together with one-tenth of the total amount of back taxes.

Third Set of Teeth Arrive

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Two new teeth of his third natural set pleased and puzzled Charles W. Wheeler, 61, ex-soldier today.

"I eat lots of green vegetables, but I really don't believe my diet is materially responsible," he said.

Wheeler, who served in the Spanish-American and World wars, cut the first tooth of the new series eight months ago and the second one four months later, he said.

Hull to Attend Peace Conference

WASHINGTON, (AP)—In keeping with the importance of attaches to the occasion, President Roosevelt is expected shortly to designate Secretary of State Hull, his ranking cabinet officer, to represent the United States at the forthcoming all-American peace conference in Buenos Aires.

Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs, is understood to have been selected as Hull's chief aide at the parley.

Divide Blame For Death Crash

A coroner's jury yesterday placed joint responsibility for a fatal accident Aug. 5 on Elias Salazar, Garden Grove, who died Monday night as a result, and on Mrs. James Sutherland, Anaheim, driver of the car struck by Salazar's auto.

Red and White Motif
Informal games were enjoyed in the evening, prizes going to Mrs. Gettle and Mrs. Harrelson, for high and low, respectively. Appointments for the small tables at which refreshments were served at the close of the day were in a red and white motif.

Clues to the whereabouts of the bride, found by the bride-to-be after diligent search, were written on small pieces of paper which dangled from shower streamers on the points of an umbrella, and part of the evening was given over to watching the guest of honor find and unwrap the presents.

Miss Laub, daughter of the Dean Laubs of this city, is to become the bride of Nelson Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rogers of Orange, in a 5 o'clock ceremony on Sunday.

SEPTEMBER BRIDE-ELECT IS FETED

Personal gifts were presented to Miss Juanita Patton, one of the season's brides-elect, Monday evening when two of her friends, Mrs. Charles Morgan and Mrs. Philip Gerrard, entertained at a personal shower at the home of the former on Maple street.

The dainty gifts were brought in at the end of the evening, after several rounds of bridge, and formed a beautiful addition to the trousseau of the honored guest, who will be married Sept. 5 to Harold Ames of San Bernardino. Lovely arrangements of zinnias decorated the rooms where the guests gathered to honor Miss Patton, and the evening concluded with the serving of a delicious refreshment course.

Prizes in the bridge games were won by Miss Patton, high, and by Miss Ruth Switzer, second. Guests invited to the pre-nuptial courtesy were the Misses Vivian Switzer, Alice Whitten, Phyllis Gerrard, Ruth Switzer, Myrtle Gerrard, Mrs. Cleland Harbaugh, Mrs. Edward Story, Mrs. E. L. Seven Preside at Tea and Shower for Miss Berry

One of the smartest of the pre-nuptial courtesies extended during the week to Santa Ana's brides-elect was the beautifully appointed tea and reception at which members of a bridge club group entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred May on Lemon Heights, complimenting Miss Virginia Berry, daughter of the Noel E. Berrys of Oakmont, bride-elect of Dick Ewert.

Bright bouquets of zinnias and double asters greeted the guests in the living room and hall, where a view of the valley from the large front window added to the charm of the setting.

Miss Berry, in a pink organza, with a corsage bouquet of gardenias sent by her fiancé, stood in the receiving line with the club hostesses, and her mother and Mr. Ewert's mother and aunt were also in the group. Mrs. Berry wore a black chiffon gown and Mrs. H. R. Ewert a green print chiffon. The seven presiding as hostesses at the affair were Mrs. Lyle Anderson, who was in green lace; Miss Alice Majors, in brown and white striped organza; Mrs. Lawrence Cameron, in navy blue organza; Mrs. Basil Shifflett, in a yellow organza; Mrs. Ernest Gould, in white organza trimmed in black; Mrs. Victor Walker of Newport Beach in blue lace with a little jacket, and Mrs. Fred May in black and white silk crepe.

Among the lovely gifts brought to Miss Berry for her trousseau and her new home was a painting by Mrs. Gould, one of the hostesses.

During the first hour, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Cameron presided at the pretty tea table in the dining room, where a color motif of pink and green was carried out in a centerpiece of single asters and in the other appointments.

Mrs. Shifflett and Miss Majors took their places later, the four assisting in receiving and entertaining while not pouring.

The guest list for the party, in addition to the honored guest and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ewert and her sister, included: The Mesdames Joie Ogle, Lyman Farwell, Leland Finley, Claude Knox, Walter Zaiser, Lyle Kelly, Henry Walker, Frank Briggs, Dean Collier, Clyde Hill, John Hill, Scott Wadde, Wayne Harrison, Ted Roper, Hawk Betten, S. Mary Stoddard Five-Year Separation Brings Reunion to Couple Determined to Be Success

An encouraging example for couples who have difficulties but hope to adjust them and save their marriage is the experience of a Santa Ana pair who separated for five years when their matrimonial bark seemed unable to weather the storms. They hunted out the flaws in its construction, and worked to remove them. They looked for each other's virtues and when blinded by outside attractions, waited until these had time to die down, before getting a divorce.

They never got the divorce, and now the wife writes, "things are coming out O. K. for us." That's real determination to save a marriage—to strain the bonds to the utmost, yet manage never to sever them.

Let's hope they have many years of comradeship and understanding ahead of them, made possible by their five years of fighting even their own impulses, in order to avoid the mess of hasty divorce and second marriages that so many people make of their lives.

Dear Miss Stoddard: In regard to the triangle I would advise any couple in trouble this way to separate temporarily and get away from each other, because if one is in love with another person, he or she can see only the faults of wife or husband.

It is a terrible thing to break up a home, and I myself could not do it, even though I loved another man. Sometimes we women don't know how much we think of our husbands until some other woman wants them, then we can see how we might have treated them better.

I used to see men I thought I liked better than my husband, but going with people and living with them are different. It takes a brave person just to keep on struggling and living.

If couples would only use will power and try to see all the good qualities in their mates, and tell them about them, instead of continually finding fault, it would save a lot of marriages from going on the rocks.

It took just five years to adjust our marriage and at times, everything seemed hopeless to me. But I kept writing to him and telling him not to give up the ship, and he didn't. So things are coming out O. K. for us. EXPERIENCED.

Wash Often
Locally, use frequent and thorough washing with warm water and soap. Tar soaps are often valuable, but may cause an increase growth of hair. Soaps containing mercury or resorcin, or better, naphthol, which dissolve the oil in the skin are most helpful. The best time to use them is at night. The soap can be allowed to dry on the face for a few minutes and then be washed off with cold water to contract the pores.

A very good local application is one composed of beta-naphthol, 1 dram; precipitated sulfur, 2 drams; green soap 2 drams; and undiluted aloe rose enough to make two ounces. Rub into the skin at bedtime after thorough washing.

KOOL KOOKERY
Dedicated to helping Santa Ana arrange cooling meals with a minimum effort and cooking, this column will present daily a recipe appropriate for hot-weather menus.

A tart and colorful salad to serve with meat is an original one made up by Mrs. George Shippe. She dissolves two boxes of lemon jelly in water, adds the juice of a No. 2 can of diced beets and two tablespoons of vinegar to make four cups of liquid, and allows it to cool.

When almost jelled, the diced beets and a small can of pineapple tidbits, (without juice) go into the mixture and are set in the refrigerator to solidify before serving with a salad dressing.

CLUB ENJOYS BRIDGE EVENING

Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger entertained her bridge club last night at her home on North Parton, decorating the rooms and tables with bright garden flowers and serving dainty refreshments after the card games.

Miss Dorothy Dunbar won the first prize, a black glazed vase of Mexican pottery, and Miss Betty Seeley, second, a box of blue stationery.

The hostess received her guests in two shades of blue. Members of the club and the other friends joining them for the evening included the Mesdames Alan Carstenson, Paul Reynolds, D. Smith, and Clyde Higgins, and the Misses Marjorie Berkner, Florence Turner, Mary Jean DuBois, Eleanor Wiener, Betty Seeley, Dorothy Dunbar, Betty Vorce, and Helen Demetriou, and the hostess.

CONFERENCE AT CARLSBAD
Fifty members of the Advent Christian church of Tustin are attending a conference of their denomination at Carlsbad, Calif., where interesting sessions are in progress.

The program includes Bible school in the mornings, beach sports in the afternoons, and separate services for adults and young people in the evenings.

ANGELENO GUEST RETURNS HOME
Miss Elizabeth Hammond, daughter of the D. K. Hammonds of Victoria drive, entertained as her dinner guests last night Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Santa Ana and the latter's house guest, Miss Rosemary Putz of Los Angeles.

Miss Putz had spent the week with Miss Robinson at 2840 North Main street, returning today to her home in Los Angeles.

Hostess To Afternoon Club

Members of her Wednesday club gathered yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. G. Lippincott, 1061 West Fourth street, for a dessert course of pretty appointments followed by an afternoon of cards.

Pompano dahlias in rust shades harmonized with the tallies in the fall colors for a pretty decorative motif, and attractive prizes presented to Mrs. Leonard White, high, and Mrs. John Cozad, low, and Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson, high for guests, formed a delightful climax to the afternoon.

Guests sharing the day with the club group were Mrs. R. H. Martin, Mrs. Pearson, and Mrs. Kenneth King, the latter of Orange; and members present were the Mesdames Jess Wright, J. F. Jacoby, Leonard White, Roy Couch, Ralph Mitchell, Mabel Short, E. R. Lepper, and John Cozad, and the hostess.

L. J. KELLEYS IN NORTH ON TRIP
Lyle J. Kelley of 116 West Seventeenth street will go north Saturday to join Mrs. Kelley, leader of Santa Ana Girl Scout troop No. 7, who has been at the Scout camp at Big Basin for two weeks.

Together, they plan a three-week trip by motor to San Francisco, Yosemite, and then to the High Sierras for fishing.

CLASS GIVES SHOWER PARTY
When Meta Adelphone class members of the First Christian church held their sewing club meeting last night at the home of Miss Marguerite Thompson, 1004 West Myrtle street, they combined the regular session with a shower honoring Mrs. John Smith, who was Miss Phyllis O'Connor before her marriage last January.

Guessing games were enjoyed and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Those present were the honored guest, Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Magdalene Cozad, sister of Mrs. Smith; the Mesdames Laura Green, Mildred Underwood, Francis Arnold and the Misses Gladys Vest, Lois Taylor, Agnes White, Ruth Juhlin, Shirley Groomer, LaDera Catherman, Marie Rash, Mary Arnold, and the hostess, Miss Thompson.

District Will Hold Five Sessions

"A clearer understanding of the Parent-Teacher program, based on the resolutions adopted at the 1936 convention, emphasizing understanding, security and peace," is the theme chosen by Fourth District of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers for its five meetings of the coming year. Presidents' councils are held every other month, alternating with the district meetings.

The first session, on Sept. 17, will be the annual fall school of instruction, and is to be held in Buena Park, according to Mrs. H. C. Drown, district president.

Two state chairmen will attend this meeting, Mrs. Roland Brown, head of the legislation department, and Mrs. M. T. Bort, character education chairman. Through a misunderstanding, Mrs. Fred Wilson's name and that of Mrs. But Wilson were confused in a story yesterday concerning a birthday party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatfield for Mrs. Fred Wilson. The story should have read, "Honoring their niece, Mrs. Fred Wilson, on her birthday anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatfield entertained relatives Monday."

Charged with failure to pay $49 in wages to his cook, George Threawell, 38, 827 Lowell street, was booked at the county jail yesterday afternoon.

SEBEROS CASE IN 2 COURTS

Charges of burglary and attempted assault against Manuel Seberos were half in one court and half in the other today, as he was held for superior court on the burglary count and a preliminary hearing was continued on the second charge.

Justice Kenneth Morrison today granted a request by Robert Crowley, Seberos' attorney, for a continuance on the statutory charge, and denied Crowley's motion for a dismissal on the burglary count. Bail was set at $2500.

Barefooted and towing a child's wagon and tricycle, Seberos was arrested last week near 1435 West Fifth street, where several articles of chinaware and a rug had been stolen.

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter 36 SUICIDE

"It's about this 'ere business on Monday night, mister," Alf Durley said to Hynton at the Morechester station. "What I told you about meeting 'at young gentles' supper," and seeing I was near the box, I'll swear to that in the box. It's about when 'e left I thought I ought to tell you of, like."

"Well what happened then?" "Well mister after the young gentlesman 'ad gone I thought to myself, 'Alf Durley where's yer supper?' and seeing I was near the big 'ouse up the lane, I thought I'd go up and see if there was anything doing."

"See if you could steal anything," the Superintendent put in. "Go on."

Durley blinked his eyes virtuously at this interruption. "To see if there was anything doing," 'Corse I knew the old boy was pretty close and all that, but I'd thought no 'arm in 'aving a look round,' so up I went. There's a kind of a back drive runs up to the 'ouse from the lane and I was just about turning in there when I 'eard someone coming down it. I drew back a bit into the shadow and in about 'alf a minute along comes the sergeant."

"Hynton looked from Durley to the Superintendent. "You're talking through your hat, Durley, you must have made a mistake."

"Not likely. I saw 'im as plain as plain. I've seen Sergeant White about on the roads fifty times and I reckognized him."

"What time was this?" "Not many minutes after the 'arf-hour."

"Seven, mister, I was in Ender-ton before eight."

Hynton stared at the tramp with a worried expression on his face—he was recalling vividly that unexplained moment in the police cottage when Alice White had plucked him by the arm and said, "You're spinning a yarn Durley," he said suddenly, "what's the back of it? What have you got against Sergeant White?"

"Honest to Gawd mister it's the truth. I haven't got a thing against the Sergeant, 'e's never 'ad me up or anything. All I know of the truth and that is Sergeant White come down the back drive there as near after 'arf past 7 Monday night as doesn't matter."

"Um. Supposing we pretend to believe you for a minute, what did you do then?"

"Mister, Alf Durley said with great earnestness, 'I beat it straight to the 'Oops at Ender-ton—I was there before 8. I can prove it."

"Why are you suddenly telling us this yarn Durley?" Hynton asked. "Why one tale last night and another now?"

"Because I've been thinking

what was he really frightened of? Hynton sincerely hoped that White did know something about the man, for more, certainly, would have to come to light before they could be satisfied. All this went forward on the surface of his mind; underneath, aided by the feeling of case consequent upon good food and tobacco, was the comfortable thought that when the Durley business was disposed of a game of chess with Sergeant White would be a very pleasant thing.

No light was showing in front so the Inspector made his way round to the back. All this, too, was in darkness, rather to his surprise—surprise which was increased considerably when on making to knock on the kitchen door he found it to be ajar.

He felt certain that the house would hardly be left unlocked with nobody in it and pushing the door wide open he stepped inside and called "White."

His voice ran round the little kitchen and died away in the dark interior of the cottage. There was no answer; but the Inspector standing there on the threshold of the dark kitchen got the distinct impression that something moved near him.

Once again he called out "White" and once again there was no answer; he took an undecided pace into the kitchen to investigate and then abruptly stopped. His steps had brought his face into contact with something twixt floor and ceiling which gave at his touch. In complete bewilderment he put up his hand to examine this unexpected object, and found that it swung away from him with a ponderous facility. His fingers encountered the roughness of serge cloth, the smooth roundness of a button.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then suddenly stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.

"God," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado backed away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hand stumbled on the electric light switch.

The merciless yellow efficiency lit up the small kitchen. The table had been pushed, or kicked, to one side, and what now adorned the center of the room was the body of Sergeant James White dependent by a stout piece of rope from a tie rod that ran close to the ceiling.

Sergeant James White's face was not a pretty sight to look at; it was the face of a man who has deliberately choked himself to death by slow strangulation—which is what even the most skillful of self hangings amounts to. His hands were handcuffed in front of his body. On the kitchen table, weighted down by a long sharp bread knife lay some sheets of paper, the top one inscribed, "Detective Inspector Kingsley Hynton."

Give Orange County the Facts

THE proposal that Orange county join the Metropolitan Water District in order to secure Colorado river water for future development is not a matter for hasty action or light consideration. It demands the concentrated study of the best minds in the county and a full disclosure of all the costs involved. A mistake might cost millions.

Some idea of the maze of difficulties that stand in the way of intelligent action at present may be gathered from the situation as outlined to interested officials and organizations at a meeting at Laguna. It was pointed out at the session that if Orange county wants to join the MWD—

It may be called upon to join without knowing what it will have to pay for water;

It must pay an initial charge equal to the amount which would have been paid since the start of the aqueduct;

It would have to act quickly to enable the district to construct a permanent instead of temporary pipeline into the county;

And it may have a difficult time trying to join because MWD directors aren't particularly anxious to have the county as part of their district.

Despite the fact that Orange county must obtain a satisfactory water supply from some source if it is to fulfill its vision of becoming the bright spot of the Pacific coast empire, it cannot afford to rush blindly into the MWD. Because if MWD water is too expensive for profitable agriculture and industry, it is practically useless for county development.

All the facts about the MWD deal should be laid before the public before final action is attempted.

An Omaha man treed himself by cutting off all the branches as he ascended the tree so he had no footholds for coming down. That entitles him to head the organization of men who paint themselves into corners.

Friendly Argument

A CERTAIN salesman and his wife in our neighborhood are true examples of a happily married couple. They like the same food, shows, music and hobbies. They fish, swim and play golf together. But their political tastes are altogether different.

He is a faithful Republican. All the New Deal donkeys and all the New Deal men couldn't stop this man from voting for Landon in November. And right now he loves to attack Roosevelt's so-called extravagances and "radicalism."

His wife, on the other hand, is heart and soul for Roosevelt. Nothing that her husband can say (and he says plenty) can change her mind.

She'll march to the polls in November and place an "X" alongside the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We admit that our party system has its faults. But so long as a man and his wife, or a pair of friends, can still remain on good terms—although their political beliefs differ—it's a sure sign that this nation won't go the way of miserable Spain and try to settle its problems with bombs and bullets.

A Clevelandier is in a hospital after suffering a dizzy spell and falling down a hotel staircase. The clerk might have broached the size of the bill more gently.

Knock, Knock!

NOW that The Journal news department is offering prizes for the best player in this new mid-season madness, "knock, knock," we are going to drop "monopoly" and "handies" and join the fun.

For instance: "Who's there?" someone asks. "Lemke," we reply. "Lemke who?" they inquire. "Lemke call you sweetheart." Or it might be Garner. "Garner the days when my heart was young and gay." The worse it is, you see, the better.

Unfortunately, this hot weather pastime seems to be the rage in political circles as well as parlors. And some of the knocks are getting pretty absurd. Read the statements of Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Farley and you'll see what we mean.

As for the game itself, perhaps it's due to a mild form of mass political insanity. Some people might blame it on the heat. But the puns are too terrible for that. It must be politics.

Are You Fingerprinted?

A case of "bridge-vest" has shown up abroad. It's a new one on us, although we had heard of "bridge-ankle."

THE G-men have announced with pride that they now have the fingerprints of John D. Rockefeller, jr., and other well-known men. These are the latest additions to the federal bureau of investigation's growing list of civilian fingerprints.

J. Edgar Hoover explains:

"When a person places his fingerprints in the bureau's civil files, he automatically insures his family against prolonged mental suffering and the expenditure of a large amount of money in an effort to locate him, should he be unfortunate enough to perish in some manner in which all means of identification except fingerprints are lost, or should he become the victim of amnesia."

We wonder what percentage of America's 120,000,000 inhabitants are going to have amnesia, and if there is not some more interesting reason why there is so much eagerness to fingerprint us all.

Could it be regimentation?

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

It is almost a set phrase to speak of "beautiful stage stars." Yet the most striking box office magnets of the day are what called "the un-beautiful girls on our girls." On the stage and screen it is the era of the ugly duckling. The girls without IT. No actress has soared to more artistic heights the past few years than Helen Hayes. She is not, of course, difficult on eye, but she would not carry away many beauty prizes. Yet there is likely no one of her period with such a distinct personal following.

Then there is Katharine Cornell, who runs Miss Hayes a close second in dramatic popularity. She casts little physical appeal across the footlights. Out of the odium she is the athletic type, given to trendy togs, sometimes even frumpy. She jokes about the back of her head being as flat as a pancake.

Lynn Fontanne has an exquisite complexion—and that almost adds up her assets in the beauty row. But she has that indefinable quality dubbed charm. Judith Anderson and Ilka Chase are eligible, too, for the un-beautiful glamour list. The chorus may need beauty, but stars do not.

Ugly ducklings on the screen have been in the ascendancy for some time, too. The rise of hoyden Patsy Kelly is a notable example. Patsy has a head of hair suggesting last year's mop, a go-funny eye, button nose, voice like a gate's creak and a face that only a mother could love. But she has the divine spark of comedy and the gift of making it infectious. So she should worry she is not a Maxine Elliott. Certainly Bill Fields and Wallace Beery are not John Barrymore. Yet any producer will jump at the chance to let them write their own ticket. A Merkel, Zasu Pitts and Helen Broderick are also in the big pay and not doing anything startling to uphold the pillars of pulchritude.

Week-end stuff: Why is it there is always one person at a house party everybody thoroughly detests?

Joe Jackson is back in America after three years of touring European music halls. He was an especial knock-out in Berlin. His tramp bicycle act has been a standard vaudeville turn for 15 years before the buckling of that amusement. Not then nor now has Jackson varied his costume or changed the routine of his matted mood a single iota. The truth is he is almost the perfection of pantomime art. An art that makes his audience believe he is just on the verge of performing a feat he never accomplishes. Those shenanigans and that triumph of utility in trying to put a torn cuff in his pantaloons pockets are jokes that never stale. I have seen them at least 50 times and whenever he is in town, wherever I am, I go again. Joe it last of the mimes—and to my notion the peer. And that includes Grock, the Fratellinis and our own—or, is he England's?—Charlie Chaplin.

One of my favorite humorists is Strickland Gillilan. Not only because of his long record for gracious humor that never concealed a single sting but because he was a favorite and warm friend of my father. He is among the talented entertainers who can't get away from one single effort that distinguishes him. That is his "On Again, Off Again, Finnigan." Just as De Wolf Hopper could never duck reciting "Casey at the Bat." The fact is Gillilan has been an inexhaustible font of sparkling wit, "Finnigan" as good as it is as a jingle, was really one of his minor efforts. Gillilan, by the way, has delivered more after-luncheon and after-dinner speeches than any speaker in America.

Thingumbobs: George Horace Lorimer has a weakness for wind-jammer sea stories and likes to select them personally. . . . Bob Wildhack, the artist, who became famous imitating snoring, doesn't snore. . . . Fanny Hurst is the earliest riser among the fictioneers, often out walking at 7 a. m. . . . John Drinkwater, the poet, collects shaving razors. . . . George Gershwin likes nothing better than to be asked to play the piano at a party.

I rather warm to the fellow in an elevator this evening. He is a member of what should be an almost universal club. Asked to step around the corner for a drink, he said: "No, I want to get home and catch up with my whining about the state of the world." (Copyright, 1936)

Science News

Dr. R. Campbell, writing in the Swiss Medical Journal, recently contributed a long treatise in which he claimed that high altitudes speed up the vital processes of the body. This announcement comes from several years of observation and investigation. Dr. Campbell has found that a change from a low to a high altitude is beneficial to lowlanders, providing there is a sufficient store of reserve energy to meet the new demands on the body.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Big Jim Farley's chickens are coming home to roost in Nebraska, with the result that the state which went for Roosevelt in 1932 looks like an almost sure bet for Landon in 1936. The White House has become so alarmed over the situation that the President is giving it his private and personal attention.

The gloomy state of affairs is due entirely to Big Jim's penchant for playing machine politics. His love-feast with two Old Guard Democratic bosses of Nebraska has not only split the party wide open but has alienated the liberal Republicans whose votes Roosevelt must win to carry the state.

The Nebraska Democratic organization is dominated by Arthur Mullen, former national committeeman, and Senator Edward R. Burke, Mullen's henchman and successor in his place on the national committee. And while playing ball with Jim Farley on one hand, these two have smeared the administration in practically everything they have said or done.

Nebraska only has four big patronage plums—a federal judge, U. S. Attorney, collector of internal revenue and U. S. marshal. Despite vehement protests from liberals and Democrats, Farley has backed up Mullen and Burke in filling every one of these places with Catholics.

That the religious issue should be made a factor is extremely unfortunate. It is an American and not a Catholic issue. But the fact remains that in Nebraska it has been made an issue against the administration because of Mullen-Burke-Farley ineptitude.

Burke has capped this covert sabotage by harpooning the New Deal openly. In the senate he has lined up against the President on every major administration measure. And on the stump he has been vigorously denouncing the administration for criticizing the supreme court. His speeches have done justice to a Liberty leaguer.

ONLY HOPE Political scouts have reported to the White House that Senator George Norris, Nebraska's great liberal, is the only hope for saving the state for Roosevelt.

If Norris can be persuaded to run for re-election as a pro-Roosevelt Independent, he might rally sufficient liberal support to put the President over.

Norris is for Roosevelt. But he is indifferent about seeking a fifth term. For the last two months he has been quietly vacationing in the Wisconsin lake country, with no indication as to whether he will accept the "call."

It has been suggested that Roosevelt make a personal appeal to Norris to enter the race. But Mullen and Burke are energetically prodding Farley to dissuade the President. Whether they succeed remains to be seen.

OKLAHOMA ORATORY Senator Gore, Oklahoma's blind Democrat, recently defeated for renomination by Representative Josh Lee, is telling this story on the successful New Deal rival.

Lee was formerly a teacher of public speaking, and, during his senatorial campaign, toured the state regaling crowds with classic orations.

According to Gore, a murderer was about to be hanged and just

What Other Editors Say

HERE AND THERE

(Berkeley Gazette)
There is no denying that several million Americans are without regular employment, although most, if not all of the needy are being cared for. There is no denying that the United States is not without its share of poverty, if not actual suffering in some regions for the bare necessities of life.

While this and worse may be true of conditions in the nation at the present time, there is a great deal of loose talk about underprivileged Americans which is gross exaggeration and without foundation in fact.

Applying the yardstick of comparison between conditions in this and other countries, here are a few differences we find: In the United States there is one radio to every six persons; in Europe, including much-talked-of Russia, there is one radio to every 17. In the United States there is one mile of railroad to each 500 citizens; in Europe, there is one mile of each 2000. The United States has one telephone for every seven persons; Europe has one for every 35. The United States has one automobile for every five persons; Europe has one for every 59. Ten out of each 50 Americans use electric lights; 10 out of every 75 Europeans are electric light customers. In the United States, life insurance averages $864 a person; in Europe it averages $69 a person.

Should we Europeanize?

TARIFF HOPES (The Lynchburg News)

Democrats who criticize the failure of their party, which it obtained power in 1932, to proceed to reduce tariffs in the interest of the farmer and in the interest of the consumer well understood that there is no hope in the Republican party. That party's platform and that party's candidate do not even make promises. They threaten injury to the farmer by closing his foreign markets. And that's one reason that many Democrats who have criticized and will continue to criticize certain acts of the New Deal administration will vote for the candidate nominated officially by the official Democratic party.

Skinny Skribbles

Don Jerome has one for Ripley. On a recent midwest tour he stopped at Manitou, which, if they haven't moved it since I went to school, is in Colorado. It seems to be headquarters for tourists. Don reports that while Mrs. J. was parting with some California money for Colorado coins he parked the car at the curb, and that inside of ten minutes 24 cars passed from as many different states. There are still some people who think they can find the Creator in the Garden of Eden. And I think they can if they properly interpret nature. Either the drought or the PWA is putting the American public on wheels.

Went over to the automobile department of the telephone company to find out about the Quick and the dead, and the Quick must have been dead. At any rate I was not able to raise him, and I gave the Lazarus call. Guess I didn't have any authority. Then again maybe Quick didn't want to see me. I merely intended to tell him I did not like fish.

Some one forwards to my address information about oil developments in San Luis Obispo county. They will have to bring the excitement closer to me if they get my interest. At present it is 30 miles away.

It isn't old age that is causing Chet Dale to limp. It was just a small pebble which tumbled ankle at an angle of 45 degrees. The injury isn't so painful, but it possesses no pleasant features, and does interfere more or less with his preambulation and fishing. For the latter penalty I am thankful, as Chet is always inviting me to a rod and line excursion.

Least voters forget, a primary election is to be held in the state of California next Tuesday, Aug. 25. There appears to be a lack of interest in the coming primary election. About the only political argument encountered pertains to national affairs. The local situation is indifferently considered. Candidates are making their own personal campaign. The apathy in that respect is more than unusual.

When Sam Foss wrote "The House by the Side of the Road," he bet he never had in mind an automobile trailer. Now there are so many of them there is hardly any road left.

An applicant for a "Meet Your Neighbor" questionnaire declines to become serious in his reply, and seeks refuge in facetious conclusions. He signs his name Steve Brodie, and gives his occupation as driver, home address Hudson river, and says his hobby is taking a three-wheeled motor vehicle to the WPA, and to him the most important problem facing the world is the women's olympics. WHY? Because they may turn out to be men.

Ed Yost waves me a fond farewell and says he is going to Arrowhead. With customary timidity I inquire if Mrs. Yost is going, and Ed says: "Yes, that's why I'm going."

Orchids to John Price, Hubert Gohres and "Shorty" Harrison for their energy and ingenuity in the preparation of the Santa Ana entry in the "Tournament of Lights," which won the sweepstakes. The three musketeers represented the Chamber of Commerce. Back of this visible ketch there was the invisible labor of Price, Gohres and Harrison, who devoted hours and hours of time and experience to the preparation of the entry. The public only saw the finished product, which would not have been so effectively and beautifully finished, had not these citizens accepted a civic appointment in the spirit of community service. They not only put in time but thoughtful preparation and professional knowledge. The Chamber of Commerce is typically community. It functions through committees. These committees either reflect creditably or indifferently the value of the organization.

Many of the committees are of such a nature that their contribution is not expected to receive public acclaim, yet nevertheless it is seriously and efficiently performed. But when committee work does call for public approval or otherwise, it is refreshing that men who give their best and unselfish service have been selected for such a labor of love. The "Tournament of Lights" put Price, Gohres and Harrison on the spot, in the vernacular of the street, and they not only took it but they got away with it.

At the close of the day I discover on strict examination that I am not entirely destitute, but that my shoes need half soles. And that my nice warm loyal friend who is looking over my shoulder as I write this paragraph says: "That isn't all you need!" I have some of the most charming and sympathetic friends.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Great Issues Revolve Around Personalities

MANY people, sincere in their views, insist that personal matters must be omitted in a political campaign. "Discuss issues and personalities," they say, "but avoid personalities. Talk about the candidate's platform, his notions about this and that, but don't say anything about the man himself. Then you will have a clean campaign and everybody will come forth from the battle unscarred and happy."

The trouble with this pleasing advice is that it won't work. You can't discuss issues without discussing those who support those issues. A public office is not merely a job. It is a person. The job is a benefit or a loss to the public according to whether the incumbent fills the job adequately or miserably. And his success or failure in the job depends upon who he is, upon his qualifications, his character, his background, his convictions, his motives, his connections with other persons and interests. You can't divorce the office from the man and have anything left but an aching void.

Honest criticism is the best corrective of our public ills. Public men must expect to pass in close review before the people they wish to serve. They should welcome investigation. If they have skeletons hidden in closets or elsewhere, such skeletons should be dragged forth. Pittiless publicity must expose every move. Unholy alliances, self-seeking motives, devious maneuvers must be uncovered. Too long has the public tolerated political monkeyshines. Too long have the people shrugged their shoulders, resigning themselves in helpless indifference to the ravages of "public servants."

Such criticism does not mean "mud-slinging." It does not mean "dirty." It does not mean a man's peculiarities and magnify them out of all proportion. It does not attempt to discount him, or to heap him, or to ridicule him. But it does take him at face value. It does assume that he knows what he is talking about, that he has those elements of character—honesty, intelligence, courage and zeal—without which no satisfactory public service can be expected.

And, in the last analysis, only personality counts. This presidential campaign will revolve around the personality of Franklin Roosevelt. Policies and platforms will be overlooked in the President inspires. And so it will be all along the line. People vote for persons, not for offices. They want personalities not mere names.
